THE WISBECK ROUT.

Gladstonians Amazed at the Completeness of their Victory.

IT FORECASTS LIBERAL SUCCESS AT THE GENERAL ELECTIONS.

The Tories Disarmed by the Outlook—London Press Opinion—Conditions Upon Which Spanish Exiles May Return—Hippolyte's Poverty—Revolt in the Argentine Republic.

LONDON, July 25.—The election of Mr. Arthur Bland, Liberal, to the vacant Conservative seat for the Wisbeck division of Cambridgeshire is still the absorbing topic of discussion in political circles, and it is difficult to say which of the opposing parties is the more surprised at the result. To the Conservatives the outcome of the contest is a complete rout, while the Gladstonians are amazed at securing the seat against the great odds which the figures of the last previous election placed to the credit of their opponents.

The general feeling is that the election shows unmistakably that the political wind has set strongly in the direction of Liberalism and the Tory election managers are profoundly impressed with the conviction that Lord Salisbury's urgent appeal to them the other night to leave nothing undone in their preparations for a general election in the immediate future as none too strongly worded. The Conservatives affect not to be downcast over their defeat, but the Liberal Unionists are reading the handwriting on the wall with looks of deep dismay as a sweeping Liberal victory in a general election means the end of their party existence.

The Post says: "The election in the Wisbeck Division of Cambridgeshire was an undoubted defeat for the Unionists. Nothing can be gained by attempting to minimize it. The result was due to Unionist carelessness and apathy. The decline of the former spirit gravely menaces the Unionist cause."

The Chronicle says: "The result was due to the Conservative candidate adopting the protection cry. The laborers recognize that protection for the farmers will not increase their wages. They voted for the Gladstonian candidate, believing that radical measures had better be entrusted to a radical government."

THE THEATRICAL WORLD.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK AT THE POPULAR LONDON AMUSEMENT RESORTS.

LONDON, July 25.—Theatricals are not the week so far as theatricals are concerned was "Miss Deanna," the operatic comedy which was presented for the first time in English on Thursday night at the Lyceum Theatre. Miss Deanna, which was imported from France to play the role of the heroine, was a considerable success, and the play was well received.

Here, however, there was a scene which, though very exciting, was not to the liking of the audience. The play was well received, and the play was well received. The play was well received, and the play was well received.

AN ARGENTINE REVOLT.

PARTICULARS OF THE ATTEMPTED REVOLUTION IN THE PROVINCE OF CORDOVA.

NEW YORK, July 25.—News has been received in the Consulate Office of the Argentine Republic in this city of an attempted revolution in the State of Cordova, produced by the States rights sentiment against centralization of power in the Federal Government at Buenos Aires. An attempt was made to blow up the public buildings in the city of Cordova. Hundreds of arrests have been made and the insurrection has been at least temporarily suppressed. It is stated, however, that throughout the State of Cordova the political prisoners number about 100. Not a very great number of the conspicuous members of the Argentine Civic (citizens' party) have been placed under arrest, as they have been in hiding. The houses of members of the party have been closely watched by the police. The Club Social, the favorite rendezvous of the citizens' party has been closed for some time. In the city of Cordova more than forty persons were thrown into jail having been implicated in the revolutionary movements, and the jails and police headquarters are filled with political prisoners. The number of killed is stated as twenty-three and the number of wounded as seventeen. But there are cases of wounded men of whom the police know nothing, as they are cared for at their homes. The citizens' party has been suppressed.

President Harrison Succeeds in Touching the Czar's Heart.

TEMPORARY SUSPENSION OF THE JEWISH EXCLUSION MEASURE.

The Result of a Visit of Leading Hebrews to Washington—Minister Smith's Diplomacy—Trying to Save the Russian's Footsteps From the Ravages of Ballyhoo—Washington News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—Cablegrams received at the State Department yesterday afternoon brought the important official news that the Czar had temporarily relaxed the Jewish expulsion measure. They also brought the gratifying intelligence that he had done this in compliance to the United States and at the instance of this country. While the relaxation was described as temporary, and intended by the Czar as a respite until he could consult with his political advisers, there is no doubt that it will lead to a permanent modification of the oppressive orders of expulsion. The matter has been very delicately managed in its diplomatic bearings. Strictly speaking, the action of the Czar in expelling the Jews was a matter of purely domestic concern, with which neither the United States nor any country had anything to do. A diplomatic remonstrance would have been resented, but means were found for putting the matter in its proper light before the Czar.

President Harrison interested himself personally. Some time ago a delegation of leading Jewish citizens, headed by Jesse Seligman, the New York banker, and Oscar Straus, ex-Minister to Turkey, waited on him and assured them that the best efforts of the Administration would be used to soften the rigors which the Russian Jews were enduring. Minister Smith succeeded in bringing the subject to the Czar's attention in a favorable light in the course of his recent visit. After the Minister's departure renewed representations were made by Consul General Crawford. He has represented the United States for many years at St. Petersburg and is a great favorite with the Russians. To his tact in a great measure is due the amicable relations between the United States and the Russian Empire. World-wide interest has been taken in the subject, and the United States has been able to accomplish what all the rest of the world could not do.

Some of the colonists had secured patents to sections of land, while others had made entries to lands.

An agreement was reached last evening which was satisfactory to all parties. The miners will be allowed to return, the militia will be dispersed and Gov. Buchanan will exert himself to get a special session of the General Assembly to take up the coal strike law.

THE NEW ORLEANS KILLING.

CONTENTS OF THE BLUE BOOK JUST ISSUED AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—The Blue Book containing the correspondence in relation to the killing of the Italian prisoners in the jail at New Orleans on March 11, has just been issued by the State Department. It appears from the correspondence, however, that the killing was a result of a misunderstanding. The State Department was even then aware of the possibilities of international complications arising from the murder of Chief Hennessy, on that date. Gov. Nichols telegraphed, in response to Mr. Blaine's inquiry, that there was no occasion for executive or unusual action in the premises.

AN AX AND A CLUB.

Weapons Used in a Desperate Affray in North St. Louis.

TERMINAL BATTLE BETWEEN MARTIN KIRKS AND "DOC" GREGORY.

Gregory in a Dangerous Condition From the Blows Dealt Him by Kirks—His Wound Almost Chopped Off—A Youthful Burglar Caught Trying a Safe—Police News.

A family feud of several months' standing, and which became more aggravated as it extended, came close to a fatal ending this morning. Martin Kirks, a young man and an industrious workman in the Lumber Works, and Doc Gregory, a private watchman at the Advance Elevator, Venice, were the principals in the bloody affray which nearly terminated in a tragedy. Both Kirks and Gregory live in a small house at the 144 North Second street. Gregory occupies the house adjoining on the north. A quarrel has been going on for some time between the wives. This morning the men, who have not been speaking terms for some time, met on the sidewalk at the entrance to Gregory's home. A wordy war was the result. It did not last long. From all that can be learned each man has expected an attack from the other for a fortnight past. After a few words Gregory rushed into his yard and came out on the sidewalk armed with a murderous double-edged ax. Kirks saw the enraged man coming on him with the weapon, and started to escape in a saloon at Second and Mulanphy streets. Gregory followed brandishing the ax as he ran. Just as Kirks was entering the saloon Gregory drove at him with the weapon. The first blow struck Kirks on the right shoulder, inflicting a slight wound. A third blow just grazed Kirks' face, leaving a scratch. By this time Kirks had run into the saloon and seized a policeman's club and struck Gregory several times, knocking him down. Gregory regained his feet, however, and made another lunge at Kirks without effect. The latter struck him again, breaking the club over his head and rendering him powerless. At this interesting juncture Sgt. McKenna and Officers Lawton and McMullen came up and arrested the two men. Kirks was taken to the police station, and Gregory was taken to the hospital. Kirks has several cuts on his head and about the face, and his nose was torn to pieces. Dr. Kearney pronounced Gregory's wounds quite serious, with the possibility of concussion of the brain.

Several Disappearances.

The "runaway fever," as it is termed in police circles, has shown itself among the young folks of the city again, and may become epidemic, as it did last April. Three disappearances were reported this morning. The parents of Nettie Steinbach, a girl 17 years of age, and the authorities to look for her. She had been working in the family of William Schaefer, 219 Park avenue, up to last Thursday afternoon, and started to leave the house and did not return. It is thought that she had run away with a former chum, who left the narrow path of virtue, and lying on Clark street, Nettie is described as being 5 feet 10 inches tall, has dark brown hair and eyes, and when she left the house she was wearing a black dress, a black hat, and a black lace trim with pink and blue flowers.

Robbed a Farmer.

There is an alley running east and west in the block bounded by Sixth, Seventh, Morgan and Christy avenue which is densely inhabited by negroes and low white people. Several times a week the police are obliged to go in there and clean out a "roost" looking for a thief or for some one who had been in the alley. The alley is the last relic of the old city, and the police believe they will be gradually wiping out this stain if "Bob" Carroll is not allowed to open a "free and easy" variety theater and saloon at its end. The alley is the last relic of the old city, and the police believe they will be gradually wiping out this stain if "Bob" Carroll is not allowed to open a "free and easy" variety theater and saloon at its end.

A Youthful Burglar.

Eddie Harbison, though but 13 years of age, is considered the worst boy in the neighborhood of 1100 South Broadway. He was expelled from school a few months ago for attempting to break open his teacher's desk and his parents unable to curb him, turned him out.

Yesterday Jacob Halfrich, proprietor of a furniture store at 2114 Broadway, left his place of business unguarded for a few hours.

On his return he found the Harbison boy trying to break open the safe with the proprietor's absence and worked at the safe combination until he opened it. He then proceeded to open the inside door, and looted the safe. Mr. Halfrich arrived just in time to stop him. The money was taken from his pocket. This morning, Graves swore out a warrant against the boy. The boy will be sent to the House of Refuge.

AN AWFUL STRUGGLE BETWEEN THE TWO IN THE WATER.

Joseph Zimmer the Man Rescued, Unconscious When Towed In and Zeller Completely Exhausted—A Steamboatman With a Life Saving Record—Solely a Graciously-Recorded News.

Shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday, Capt. Joseph Zeller of the transfer boat Pacific rescued a young man named Joseph Zimmer from being drowned in the Mississippi river. The boat had started in to launch when he saw a stir up in the middle of the river. One look was sufficient. He saw the occupant of the boat go down, and without waiting to see whether the man was carrying his gun, he jumped into the water. The captain is a powerful man, and with a few strong strokes by the drowning man's side. Just as the man went down the second time Capt. Zeller caught him. By this time the river boat was lined with people whose attention was attracted by the blowing of whistles of the boats and switch engines.

The captain's strength was waning, but he did not give up. He kept on pulling the man up to him. The man was unconscious, and the captain was completely exhausted. The boat was pulled up to the shore, and the man was taken to the hospital. The captain was praised for his bravery and was given a life saving record.

The Eastern papers have for some time been intimating that all was not smoothness between President Charles E. Byrne and Capt. John Ward, says the Pittsburgh Leader.

The recent visit of the Brooklyn to this city confirms the hints.

Anyone with half an eye and a hearing not wholly defective could have seen and heard a great many things at Exposition Park last week tending to show that there is no love in the bosom of the whilom Association manager for the leader of the celebrated Brooklyn baseball movement.

Wednesday's game was virtually lost through Ward's errors, the most lenient scoring giving him two, and the said two being good for four runs. Byrne was a spectator, and of course, and was very hot under the collar after the game. He thought there were at least half a dozen men in the League who would not have hesitated to back Ward, and admiringly spoke of Long of Boston and with a sigh and a tinge of sorrow, said: "And then there was I."

In the first game Thursday, Ward was removed from the game for persistently disputing a decision of Umpire declaring Bauer safe and then declaring him out.

After the meeting Delegates Egan and DeLoach Haggerty had some high words but did not come to blows. Egan being a small man did not think that fighting was consistent with the dignity of a member of the House.

McKenna was foreman of the blacksmith shop at the factory and was in the habit of taking out of his pay roll he would send in fictitious names as employees and keep the money.

His defalcation is alleged to be as high as $5,000. He is supposed to have spent the money betting on horse races.

McKenna has been foreman twelve years, and in the firm's employ much longer. He has a wife and five children. Detectives Tracy and Archambault worked up the case.

AN ENGINE OF WAR.

Practical Test of the New High-Power 12-Inch Gun.

A TON OF SOLID STEEL THROWN FIVE MILES OUT TO SEA.

American Ordnance Proven to Be the Best in the World—Superiority of the New Monster Over Those Built at the Great Krupp Factories—Other Trials to Be Made.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The first high-power gun of 12-inch caliber built in this country was fired yesterday at the New York Proving Ground on Sandy Hook Point. The results, as expressed by the ordnance officers present, were satisfactory. From every standpoint, they show that American ordnance-making is equal to the best in the world and that sea-coast defenses with American guns can be made effective against any ironclads on the face of the ocean. This gun, which is a steel breech-loading rifle, was sent from the National Foundry at Watervliet, N. Y., to be tested more than a month ago. It has taken this time to transport the gun from the Government arsenal to its present position. Lieut. Gibson superintended the firing and loading with the assistance of Sgt. J. W. Warwick and a party of ten soldiers. The tests of yesterday were not for the ordinary service charge, which consists of 40 pounds of powder, but were conducted under a reduced charge of 20 pounds of German brown prismatic powder and a projectile weighing 1,200 pounds. Capt. Gibson stated that the new gun was loaded and ready for firing. Red flags were waving along the line of fire, warning passing vessels that a one-ton solid projectile was being hurled along the waters from Sandy Hook Point.

THE FIRST SHOT.

At 12:35 Lieut. Gibson gave the signal for every body to leave the gun and go under bomb-proof quarters, and then touched the electric button which fired the first twelve-inch steel breech-loading rifle. A type of rifle destined to become an important factor in the problem of protecting our almost defenseless coast, the new gun was fired. The shot of the great gun was an explosion of steel cut by the cross wires of the telescope. The projectile was hurled the water five miles to the eastward. It struck the water about 1,000 yards from the shore and rolled over, making a sound like a great stone hitting a hard surface. It was lost to view. As soon as the gun was cool Lieut. Gibson and his corps of assistants swung open the 1,200-pound plug and made an examination of the effect of the first fire. The pressure gauges showed 20,000 pounds to the square inch, with an initial velocity of 2,000 feet per second. The projectile was found to be in good condition. The gun was fired again at 1:15 p. m. and the results were similar. The gun was fired a third time at 1:45 p. m. and the results were similar. The gun was fired a fourth time at 2:15 p. m. and the results were similar. The gun was fired a fifth time at 2:45 p. m. and the results were similar.
